"SHOOTING" WITH THE CAMERA

That there is a growing tendency to "shoot" with the camera rather than with the rifle is indicated by the many parties who have gone into the Rockies and the Rockies have been few years and have used the cameras more than they used the rifle. "Movie" machines have also been used extensively and often in the same manner of the wild game life of the mountains.

New this brings us to the point of this short article.

The writer has been in close touch with most of the big game guides in this part of the Peace River for several years and has found that most lead a party into the mountains when they are armed only with cameras and "movie" machines than with high-power rifles.

The Tribune has been informed here that most of the guides prevent their clients from shooting with cameras. Drawing cards. The reason is quite obvious. The people in the seats would much rather see pictures of wild life than live it. Instead of seeing someone sitting on a dead moose or grizzly, holding a 30-30 rifle.

People like to see pictures of life, not death.

We believe the time is not far distant when the big game guides will be compelled to turn into the mountains not to destroy our game but to "shoot" them with the camera and take the pictures back home to show the world what was seen.

The above comment should not be taken as an attempt to discredit our big game guides, who are men of ability and of the highest integrity and who, in the view of the game laws are rigorously enforced, thus preventing needless slaughter.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY SHOWS MARKED INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Under the title of "Facts and Figures," the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce makes a most comprehensive analysis of the automobile industry in Canada and presents figures which indicate that the industry has experienced marked increases in production since 1933. The booklet lets off with the following:

"Substantial increases in production and sales were registered in 1935 by the automobile manufacturing industry in 1935. Production of the automobile plants was value at $100,022,445. This compares with $80,000,000 in 1934 and the amount paid in salaries and wages was 43.8 per cent over 1934 and 1933."

Motor vehicle registrations for 1935 totalled 1,176,775, an increase of 4 per cent over 1934.

The total highway mileage at the end of 1934 as reported by the several provincial departments was 363,460 miles and unsurfaced roads 315,679 miles.

The value of the tourist trade to Canada is expressed in the following figures: Total tourist traffic from the United States for touring purposes was 3,605,080 in 1935. The estimated expenditure of these automobile tourists was $1,000,000.

It might be mentioned in passing that due to impassable roads, not one outlet of this huge expenditure found its way into the Canadian economy, notwithstanding that no section of Canada offers greater attractions to tourists.

The gasoline tax rates by provinces are as follows: Alberta, 7 cents; British Columbia, 7; Manitoba, 7; New Brunswick, 6; Ontario, 6; Quebec, 6; Prince Edward Island, 5; Saskatchewan, 6; Prince Edward Island, 5; Quebec, 6; Saskatchewan, 7.

From the above figures it would appear that the automobile industry is well around the corner, and if the figures can be taken as a criterion there will be a real revival in business throughout the Dominion, especially in eastern Canada.

Along the Trail

WAR AND GEOGRAPHY.

It seems to take a war or revolution to make people study in detail the geography of the countries involved. Newspapers, magazines and other publications carry maps of the warring nations.

Speaking along "Along the Trail" in Grande Prairie I have noted of late maps of Spain which is now experiencing a bloody civil war, hung up in every schoolroom, and the students and people were studying the geography and positions of cities of this war-torn nation.

I hazard the statement that before the revolution in Spain few Canadians had any detailed knowledge of that country.

It seems to take some unusual event to create interest especially if that country is many miles away.

A RATHER CHILLY SUGGESTION

I was one of a party of four when the subject of "What is to Happen to the World if the Country?" was introduced. The discussion was general and no conclusions were presented. All agreed that at present the opportunity for youth was anything but bright.

As a member of the party, who has several children all arriving at the time of life when they should be starting their life's work.

One of our age would have our hands full for making such a tangle of things. What heritage are we leaving to our boys and girls?

As far as our party was concerned, we all know that we should do?

We should go down to the Wapiti, make a raft, get onto it and float off into the Arctic.

ENILDA NEWS

ENILDA, Sept. 28—Wolves have visited Mr. Jackson again, but as far as we know no calves were hurt. They are still here, however, and one of the wolves was seen crossing an opening just below Seegerdon's house, but they did not have time to do much damage. The wolf population of the South country to Peoria.

Several threshing machines have started again this morning and we are hoping that we can finish before another storm.

There are at least three carloads of potatoes to be shipped from Enilda in the next week or two.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Cartwright are selling out and expect to leave for British Columbia in the spring by car. Carl and Stanley have bought their cook stove.

PEORIA NEWS

PEORIA, Sept. 24.—Still waiting for the sunshine. Really the sun shines every day, but clouds are hanging in before it. All signs have failed but one, which is sure yet.

Everybody is waiting for good weather, yet most people are so busy that no one has time to help the other.

BUILDING IS ON TOP

More buildings are being constructed and improvements made everywhere in our district; especially for our boys. The old Smith shop for W. J. Rotzacker, machine shop for Fred Reidewig, a barn for Tom and Billie Hause, Zebulon; addition has been made to the Pandus Theatre; foundation and lumber are on the place for the new school building; and on the sides other buildings are being completed.

Mr. Rotzacker and Mr. Peter Relewie are pleased with the shingling of their big barns done with shingles made at the lumber mill.

A great improvement in eight years can be seen in the town district.

Mrs. Engel, who is visiting her son, Mr. W. J. Rotzacker, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. K. K. Rotzacker, from Peoria, is the most prosperous farming country she has seen for years. The crops are very fine and the soil is excellent. She first saw the time she was in Peoria before, some eight years ago. Her trip here was not so good, for they were four days on the road from Whitefish to Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Tetz and family are home again. He said the trip they made was just fine, but the roads were fearful to travel in because of the heavy snow. It was travelling in snow, Mr. Tetz and family were in many parts of this province and in Saskatchewan. Mrs. Tetz and family did not make passengers from the South country to Peoria.

We were very glad to have with us our new conference president, Elder Rudy from Calgary. Elder Rudy is a man of great energy and enthusiasm.

In an ever-increasing crescendo the production moves from peak to peak until all too brief tour of this world we live in, culminating to a full every minute particle of romance and glamour.

REGISTERING WITH scientific precision the program preferences of western Canadians, the Musical Barometer has all the musical and vocal features, hits the air bases at 1:15 p.m. daily. Interspersing the musical portion of the production with timely facts on weather, news, conditions, temperatures and forecasts, the Musical Barometer has already found itself an indispensable addition to the daily radio fare of western audiences.

ON THE SPOT—at least our friend Bill is leading every going, bit rough as he pursues his way across the briny. Undercover enemies, subtle traps, nerve-wracking ventures, them all are combined and one other incident combine to make each episode of the new Tarzan series fifteen thrill-packed minutes long.

WHAT short-lived through sickness and illnesses, the staff at Edmonton's thousand-wattter are literally on the hot day and night, fighting their way through the busiest season the station has ever seen.

THAT Program Director Bill Cranston is on the mend and will soon be in harness again.

THAT Ronnie Morler has been performing a literal interpretation of CJCA's new program, "The Musical Barometer." At least he's been wandering around the studios with a clinical thermometer firmly clamped to his forehead, awaiting his hoped-for something will happen.

THAT Wally and Augie Barge of the commercial department is having the time of his life on a country sales mission. At least one would come to that conclusion after seeing Wally on his return.

THAT F. H. the Eighteen, chief steward of the thousand-wattter, is off on a little business trip. And when the cat's away ... well, the mice would be having a swell time if they weren't too busy to play.

Richmond Hill Golf Club First Annual Ball Marks Brilliant Opening of Autumn Functions

Golfing patrons of the Richmond Hill Golf and Country Club from far and near will bring to a close one of the most successful seasons ever enjoyed to date with the first annual ball to be held Friday, October 9, in the old Capitol Theatre in Grande Prairie.

No less interesting will be the presentation of trophies during the evening to the winners in open and club competitions by members of the match and handicap committee.

Messrs. J. Sisonne, A. R. McMillan and E. C. Collier are looking forward to a big turnout.

The Fall season's first major affair is informal and invites all golfers to present them at the theater door on entering.

19th Hole

Sunday last turned out to be a splendid day for golf and quite a number of golfers turned out to get in all the golf they can before cold weather sets in for the winter.

Lunch will be served cabaret style on the decorated stage by the ladies of the American Church during the entire evening.

Considerable interest in the Richmond Hill Golf and Country Club's first annual ball has been evidenced in local and district circles where invitations have already reached in the hands of golfers such as Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Clairmont, Wembly, Beaver Lodge and Hythe, and the house and ladies' committees headed by Mr. J. Sisonne and E. C. Collier are looking forward to a big turnout.

success in her work and invited her back again.

Mrs. M. P. Stavm, secretary of the Grande Prairie branch, on behalf of the Catholic Women's Club, welcomed Miss McGrath and thanked her for coming here to form a diocesan subdivision of the three annual meetings. She expressed the hope that the next time Miss McGrath visited Grande Prairie conditions would permit of showing more of the country and still greater membership.

Father Conway, who was the next speaker, showed that the two outstanding features of the meeting were the good food and the women. He said that women of the North had played a large part in the development of this country and will continue to play a great part.

An anecdote occurred when the chairman called upon Father Conway to speak. In the guest of honor, Father McGrath explained that Father Conway had shot it while it was sitting on a teletype wire.

Miss McGrath, who was taken aback by his surprise, replied in a few appropriate words that she had never tasted a wild goose and she looked forward with great pleasure to this new experience.

The chairman then introduced Miss McGrath as the speaker of the evening.

In her opening remarks Miss McGrath said: "The meeting has given pleasure to all who have been able to attend. It is good to have the opportunity of addressing an audience assembled under the auspices of the Catholic Church. It is good to us," she said, "who have never started within the confines of the Peace River oil fields to be exposed to the influences of the term 'Peace River country'—its primary general impression is that it is to be a land of natural resources, immense potential wealth, and capable of almost limitless development. I must confess the country has a great deal to offer in assisting at the formation of a diocesan subdivision of the Catholic Church. It is a land which, such a setting and environment, I am confident that the seed of the organization that has today been planted will develop and grow and will commensurate with the growth and prosperity of the country."

After referring to the implantation with the oil companies and the oil men to the movement, Miss McGrath drew attention to some of the principles the Oilmen's Council of the League, among them to preserve and maintain principles and institutions which it believes to be essential to the stability and happiness of any enduring social order. The League should be alert and watchful to maintain the sanctity of the home and family life, as well as to maintain such a broad and lasting social structure as will be built, adding that the League is fighting for the success of the marriage and family life, and that the old and godless and pagan remedies that are advocated for the cure of social and economic ill. It is opposed to a social order which has been created which eliminates God and religion from its planes.

Miss McGrath spoke of the brief history of the Catholic Women's League which had its birth in England and it was interesting to note that she said that the original city of Alberta belongs the distinction of having the first branch of the League in Canada.

After stressing the urgent need for intelligent "intensive" Catholic lay action, she said that Catholic women should be alert to the conditions that are transpiring in the world today, when the freedom now enjoyed is endangered and we must be prepared to protect and defend that freedom.

Continuing, Miss McGrath observed that the regular government in Europe is rapidly disappearing and is being supplanted by dictatorships. That it would be foolish to believe to assume that the same fate will not overtake Germany, Italy and Spain has no concern for the Canadian people, who perhaps would be surprised to discover the extent of their political influence that brought about such changes in those countries are taking place in our own country. If we fully appreciate the value of Canadian laws and institutions, if we fully realize the importance of our exports to the well being of our national life, surely we will not hesitate to contribute our help for their preservation.

In conclusion Miss McGrath expressed the hope that the meeting of the Prairies will be a great stimulus of stimulating interest in the districts and subdivisions and of bringing a realization to each member that although trials and difficulties and truly disheartening conditions, encouragement and comfort should be given to each other, until the local subdivision may be small, it is a very important link in the chain of subdivisions that extend across Canada.

Miss McGrath observed that when the rest of the family tasted the wild onions she had brought from the onions of the term "Peace River country" she would all want to accompany her home as her next visit.

The chairman drew attention to the fact that Mrs. Patterson of Buffalo Lakes was the oldest woman present. The appreciation of these present was evident by the many hearty handshakes.

Father McGrath thanked Miss McGrath for her excellent address and for making the trip on her holiday time.
